Sapiro Willing to Testify
But Suitable Time Not Possible

WINNIPEG, April 13.—(Canadian Press).—Aaron Sapiro, co-operative pool expert, of Chicago, is willing to testify before the Royal Grain Inquiry Commission on Monday, April 21, according to a wire received Saturday night. As the hearing is to be held in Vancouver, and no session had been planned, and the commission expects to leave for the head of the inquiry either Sunday or Monday night, it is unlikely that Sapiro can be heard unless he changes the date of his proposed visit. He has been wired to this effect.

A telegram has been also dispatched to G. H. Van Allen, at Edmonton, stating that the commission will be unable to hold sessions either at Calgary or Edmonton en route to the coast.

At this time the making of an Alberta pool and the promoters of proposed pools in Saskatchewan and Manitoba will appear before the commission.

The price obtained by the Alberta pool will form an interesting subject. W. W. Wood, chairman of the pool, has received several offers for the pool, and has received several offers for the pool, and has received several offers for the pool.

The inquiry is expected to continue until the end of the month, and four-day sessions will be held at the lake ports and then the commission will go to Vancouver to investigate the Van Allen charges.

War Hinted In Address By Trotzky

Soviet Minister Says Russia

Ever

RUSSIAN POLICY

Declares France Is Playing Foul Game in Support of Rumania, Poland

MOSCOW, April 13.—Speaking at a conference in Tiflis prior to his return to Moscow, Trotzky, the Soviet minister of war, said Soviet Russia at present was stronger than ever.

With regard to the Rumanian question, Trotzky declared Russia was waiting. The door for an amicable settlement of the situation was still partly open. However, he would not say there never would be war.

France, according to Trotzky, was playing a foul game in supporting Rumania and Poland against Russia, and in attempting to break the peace in the Balkans.

He added, M. Poincare, the French premier, said that he had been unsuccessful.

Referring to the negotiations between Russia and Great Britain, Trotzky said the Russian government would help to strengthen the position of the Labor government in Great Britain by concluding a socialist economic agreement with that country.

London bankers told how Russia's credit can be restored.

LONDON, April 13.—On the eve of the assembling of the Anglo-Russian conference, a number of leading London bankers have sent a memorandum to the British government, setting forth conditions under which they would be willing to advance credit to Russia.

The memorandum, which is being circulated in London, states that the conditions include, in addition to the recognition of public and private debts, the restoration of the property of foreign-owned enterprises, and the restoration of the property of private contractors with a guarantee of the future of the Russian economy.

PAINTING FROM JUNK SHOP IS THOUGHT A VELASQUEZ

TORONTO, April 13.—Mrs. Stuart Livingston, of Hamilton, has been informed by art artists among them Senator Tasquavalli Farino, the eminent Philadelphia authority, that she has a painting in a grime-coated painting which was picked up in a Winnipeg junk-shop a few years ago for a few dollars. Experts who have examined the painting declare that it probably is a Velasquez.

Arrangements are under way to hang the picture at the Metropolitan Museum, New York. The picture is that of a man in a broad-brimmed hat and flowing garments holding up a partly filled wine glass in one hand, and a violin under the opposite arm.

The painting was bought by the portrait artist, Victor A. Long, of Vancouver, in a second-hand shop at Winnipeg. Eventually he gave it to T. C. Livingston for an insurance policy. The picture was taken to Hamilton. Later Mr. Livingston gave the picture to his son, Stuart Livingston, who in turn gave it to his wife as a wedding present.

This is the contention of J. S. Stewart, Conservative, Lethbridge, who expressed this opinion while discussing the bill in the House.

The Alberta Legislature was prorogued on Saturday night about half past ten o'clock, after Lieutenant-Governor K. E. Brett, in gold lace and white gloves, had ceremoniously raised his hat, following the tedious reading of the titles of forty-seven bills, and thereby gave, in silence, the deputized royal assent to the bills before closing of the session.

The Legislature closed its doors half an hour before the time that an easy working schedule had provided. That created an embarrassing situation for the Sergeant-at-Arms. There he was, with a legislature on his hands, and no Lieutenant-Governor to go through the ancient form.

The Sergeant-at-Arms, embodying in himself the poise and dignity of the office, and all his predecessors who over him a mace, feared the sword, and his fears came true. There he was, and no Lieutenant-Governor to go through the ancient form.

Vets and South Side Play Two to Two Tie In Football Opener

Soccer Season Gets Well Away—Teams Put up Good Exhibition Considering the Weather Has Impeded Practice—Wind Strong—Teams Look Good

The senior soccer season got away to a good start on Saturday at Renfrew Park, when a fairly good game witnessed the opener between South Side and Veterans.

The weather was just right for football, except that the wind was a little too high for accurate kicking, and the players were slow in acclimating themselves to the conditions. When the stands got fixed up and the playing pitch protected more from winds, more interesting football will no doubt be seen, and as a further suggestion, the surrounding fence might be heightened. This may be the means of more revenue, by the way as it would prevent the use of the natural grandstand to the south of the park.

The players soon showed the best of the opening of the season and in the second half the play had a distinct opening, the players finding the work hard, and they were not at all tired. As the season advances, no doubt the players will have the difficulty and the snap and vim necessary to the form which will be shown.

A Good Exhibition.

The game Saturday was a good exhibition and the South Side team was uniformly in the best of form, taking away both points. The play which led to the opening of the season was a pretty piece of work, but at the end of the game, the South Side had cleared had not been in the habit of playing in the line, a fact which caused a number of the players to be out of the line, but the South Side pulled up and the Veterans were not at all tired. SPORT IS MY SUBJECT By DEACON WHITE

A real rival of the great Alfred Shrub, who has been the king of long distance runners in all climates and all ages for the past twenty years, is looming up on the horizon.

It is the phantom Finn, Deacon White, who threatens to seize the crown that many experts have thought could never be taken from the great Alf.

There have been many contenders since the year 1904, when Shrub created his marvelous records from two miles right up to the mile, but none of them has been as wonderful as the great Finn. Deacon White, who has been the king of long distance runners in all climates and all ages for the past twenty years, is looming up on the horizon.

Already the phantom Finn has dashed three weeks' records to smithereens, two of them held by Shrub—namely, the three and six miles. On September 12th, 1922, on the matchless track at Stockholm, Sweden, Nurni whirled off the three miles in the remarkable time of 14 minutes 8 and 2-5 seconds. On June 23rd, 1921, on the same track, he hustled wide open Shrub's six-mile mark by reeling off this distance in 29 minutes 41 and 2-5 seconds.

But his most wonderful piece of work was performed at Stockholm last August, the 23rd, when the sporting world was astounded at the news that was flashed around the globe that the phantom Finn had shattered the mile record of 4 minutes 12 and 3-5 seconds by 2 and 1-5 seconds.

Think of it—a mile in 4 minutes 10 and 2-5 seconds by a human being, that is human a Finn—a race and the world owes their origin in Europe to the Tartar hordes that swept over that continent during the middle ages.

When Norman Tabor, a Dartmouth College student, beat the record of W. G. F. England, which was previously 12 and 3-5 seconds, made in 1886, by negotiating a mile at Cambridge, Massachusetts, on July 16th, 1915, in 4 minutes 12 and 3-5 seconds, it was thought that the limit of human speed and endurance for that distance was reached.

But Paavo Nurni has confounded the experts by knocking the old record into the discards; and, being right at the top of his form, this coming season, the eighth Olympiad, is very likely to see the phantom Finn sweeping a whole lot more of the old long-standing marks into oblivion.

Right now he holds the world's records for the two, three, five and ten thousand meter distances. He is bound to cut a wide swath for Finland in the coming Olympic games at Paris next July.

The great question is, can Nurni beat Shrub's marvelous records for the seven, eight, nine and ten miles? Up to date, he has never trained especially for these distances; but if he should decide to go for the great Alf's marks, there is very little doubt but that he can take them.

The three best ten mile races that have ever been run, as far as there is any authentic record, those of Alfred Shrub, Jean Louis of France, and George McCrea, a professional runner of Scotland.

The dapper and dynamic little Englishman reeled off the ten miles at Glasgow, Scotland, July 5th, 1904, in 50 minutes 40 and 2-5 seconds. After losing a few seconds, he was persuaded to go on and endeavor to set a new world's record for the hour, which he did, making 11 miles and 1,317 yards.

Shrub beat on July 6th, 1913, at Stockholm, Sweden, ran the ten miles in 50 minutes and 40 seconds. He went on and lowered the time to 49 minutes and 40 seconds. In this race McCrea started the world by running the first mile in 4:37 2-5 and the first two miles in 9:35 3-5.

If the phantom Finn attempts to beat these marks and is successful, he will displace the wonderful Shrub as king of long distance runners.

Frequent Hail Storms, Winds, Muddy Grounds Handicap League Games

Bad Weather Has Restrictive Effect upon the Gate Receipts—Crowds Unusually Poor—Arsenal Beats Sunderland 2 to 0

LONDON, April 13.—Frequent hail storms, high winds and muddy grounds were a considerable handicap to the league football games Saturday and had a restrictive effect upon the gates. With the exception of 20,000 at the Liverpool-Middlesbrough game, won by the former, three to one, and 18,000 at the West Ham-Arsenal game, the gates were unusually poor.

Arsenal won against Sunderland, two to nothing, while Sunderland figured as if they were the best team on the list for regulation. They, however, badly missed Buchanan, who was playing in the international England-Scotland game, and was replaced by Rodgers. This player nervously suffered several free gifts.

A bad defence was responsible for the defeat of Tottenham by 8 to 2 at the hands of Everton. Cardiff outplayed Burnley by 2 to 0. West Bromwich scored the whole of their three-goal tally against Stoke City in sixteen minutes after the interval. Chelsea did an easy victim in Newcastle, 2 to 0.

In the second division, Manchester United made runs around Crystal Palace and won 2 to 0. In the third division, Tottenham beat Burnley 2 to 0. In the fourth division, Tottenham beat Burnley 2 to 0.

THE URGE TO ECONOMY.

Anybody who doubts that Edmonton people want to save money should drop around to the court of revision. Whatever other signs of the times may indicate, there is only one conclusion to be drawn from the crowds which swarm that slaughter-house of hopes, Sir Thomas White would be thrilled by such evidence of popular thrift.

AN OVERSIGHT.

As yet nobody has suggested that the head of the Home Bank paid anything for the privilege of cashing cheques drawn by the late Ontario Government. That omission seems conspicuous, in view of the readiness with which commissions were handed out to some party or parties unknown in connection with the handling of provincial funds. Somebody evidently overlooked one opportunity.

CANADA NOT RESPONSIBLE.

The Montreal Star is all "het up" because the Dominion Government will not ratify the Treaty of Commerce. No wonder, the paper is demanding that the Government pass an order-in-council confirming and ratifying the Ten Commandments. As the Government has precisely as much right to do as the Dominion Government, the order, action in the latter case would be as appropriate as in the former. As to the relations between Canada and Turkey, nobody need be much worried. There can be no quarrel with the Dominion having to underwrite the discredited document by which the powers of Borneo surrendered to Kemal and restored the "exorable Turk" to the corner of that continent out of which he had been hurled at the cost of 30,000 Australian soldiers.

JUST IN CASE.

Premier Oliver of British Columbia is on his way to Ottawa, to take up the despatches explaining some constitutional questions bearing on the relations between the Dominion and the provinces. With respect to the good intentions of the Dominion, it may be suspected that one of the objects of the visit of the active Premier of the neighbouring Province is to get the Dominion to try to head off the construction of the Brule Grande Prairie railway and to secure the building of a line from some point in the Peace River country through the Peace River valley. The Dominion is at least strong enough to suggest that it would do no harm if Premier Greenfield also found it expedient to make a trip east to the Legislature in the Province of the Peace River. It is to be hoped that the branch from Brule should be built.

THE KINDLY INFLUENCE OF TIME.

Premier Greenfield is now convinced that what "not be in the interests of the public" to give out the results of the investigations which have been made into the correctness of the charges which were preferred by the Federal cabinet from the Department of Railways as to how the C.P.R. has been spending the money advanced by the Province for re-constituting the C.P.R. and B.C. railroads. The Premier was equally convinced that nothing but the fierce light of publicity radiating from a judicial inquiry could do justice to the public interests in the matter. The fact that the Premier has been as they were when the report was brought into the Legislature and broadcast through the press. The only discernible difference in respect to the public interest is that the incident is farther away and the public may be supposed to have forgotten about it.

RUNNING TROUBLE TO FORM.

A few days ago Mr. Meighen was prophesying that the tariff reductions to be announced by the Government would not be serious enough to be important. Now the tariff reductions have been announced and the Minister has threatened ruin to Canadian industries and will drive another army of Canadians across the border. But a few months ago Mr. Meighen was telling Western Canada that the tariff was substantially what he had left it; to which he hitched the unexpected corollary that the tariff was the chief factor in starting the stampede of people to the United States. The Opposition leader can probably put more inconsistent arguments on his unsuspecting hearers in a given space of time than any other party chief this country has yet produced. The Minister has no qualification for leadership of the Opposition. One always knows exactly where to find him. He is always "jagged" in the Government, coming or going, past, present or future. For what he has done, haven't we done, intend doing and have no notion of doing. And it doesn't phase him a bit to have his slip in the minutes today the elaborate case he built up yesterday.

ABANDONING HOPE OF ECONOMY.

Considerable significance attaches to the decision of the members of the committee that he do not wish to be longer counted as a supporter of the Greenfield Government. Though elected as an independent member, candidate against the wishes of Sir P. Mr. Milnes has a very substantial measure of support from the membership of that organization and has been accepted in the legislature by all parties as representing views held by a considerable section of the United Farmers. He took his seat with the Government members, and has been with them, without giving the right to independent judgment upon the floor, and the statement setting out the reason for his action. He has been with them, without giving the right to independent judgment upon the floor, and the statement setting out the reason for his action. He has been with them, without giving the right to independent judgment upon the floor, and the statement setting out the reason for his action.

The Government, of course, will not be embarrassed by the loss of one vote, should it be decided to hold another session. The Government, of course, will not be embarrassed by the loss of one vote, should it be decided to hold another session. The Government, of course, will not be embarrassed by the loss of one vote, should it be decided to hold another session.

It takes a good deal more faith than the average man can exercise in the record of the Government any serious effort toward economy, or in the estimates for the current year any ground for hope that the Government will do more than to do not undertake to say that any such hope is to be entertained. They plan to spend more money this year than they expect to collect, and they propose to borrow money with which to repair roads, although the income from motor license fees amounts to more than the Government expects to collect.

To look for a change of policy is perhaps useless, but the refusal of a former supporter in the House to be held responsible for a course of action is a sign of the times. The member for Claresholm is not in any sense anticipating a change of public opinion. There is evidence everywhere that a new era of public opinion is being born, and that the public have long since come to the conclusion that he has been driven to accept.

MORNING NEWS OF THE MARKETS

With Business Not Large Grain Prices Hold Firm On Winnipeg Exchange

WINNIPEG, April 13.—While the volume of business transacted on the wheat market Saturday was not large, prices held relatively firm throughout the short session. Only a limited buying power came out early, but towards the close this improved somewhat, and prices closed around the high of the day, May gaining 38 and July and October 1-2 cent. Exporters were not active, but sagacious advisers reported fairly large sales overnight for Durums and some hard winter wheat. There was a small country business believe, done holders of May wheat liquidating or switching to more deferred positions. The future coarse grains were a little firmer, but only a light trade was worked. The flour market was steady, with prices unchanged. The cash wheat market continued extremely dull, with very little interest shown in any position, the trade in general waiting for the opening of navigation. Exporters were in the market for cash oats and a fair trade was worked, but the other grains were quiet.
